Playground

Monday, June 26th
10 AM-2:30PM
Cost: FREE

26001 South Woodland Rd.
Beechwood, Ohio 44122

A playground for all ages and levels of abilities and disabilities. The Inspiration for this playground came from friends and family of a little boy born with Spinal Muscular Atrophy who wanted to play in a park with other children. This group found that the number of children in just Cuyahoga County alone with some type of disability was over 26,000. These were children who wanted the opportunity to play with their siblings and friends...in a place that was boundless. Many of these children met one day and dreamed together the way Preston’s H.O.P.E. should be. A place where you could get up high, feel movement, play things you’ve never been able to, or just be quiet if you want. This playground is amazing and definitely worth the drive to Beechwood. Bring a picnic lunch and spend the day with us at this amazing playground.

To see more pictures, get directions, and read more about the playground go to www.prestonshope.com and take a virtual tour.

FAMILY PICTURE MEMORY

Do you have family members you don’t see often because they live far away or you just aren’t able to get together very often? Do you want your children to be familiar with them or remember memories from a time spent together? One way to do this is through the use of pictures. You can make a simple memory game by choosing 2 pictures of each family member you want your child to be familiar with. Make sure the pictures are all the same size and have some construction paper or scrapbook paper to glue the photos on so all of the backs match. Or, for a simpler version, put matching paper on the backs of grandma, then a different color on the back of grandpa, etc. As they turn the pictures over they can identify the person on the card then try to find the match. If the pictures are from a specific event you can recall the event with your child so they can remember as well. This activity gets your children talking about their loved ones and events that have happened and even gets them learning new vocabulary and building their language skills through pictures. For younger children the pictures can be used to help them be familiar with a loved one who may be visiting soon and ease their fears. One of the best ways to get children learning new vocabulary and building their language skills is through the use of photos. This simple memory game gets kids talking about events that have happened and can be adapted and adjusted to fit your child’s developmental level and needs.
My Mom
My mom is pretty,
My mom is sweet.
My mom's the BEST MOM you ever will meet!

I Love Mommy
Tune: Are you sleeping?
I love Mommy, I love Mommy.
Yes, I do. Yes, I do.
And my Mommy loves me,
and my Mommy loves me.
Yes, she does, yes she does.

I Wish I Was a Little Hunk of Mud
Tune: If You're Happy & You Know It
Oh, I wish I was a little hunk of mud
Oh, I wish I was a little hunk of mud
Then I'd oooey and I'd gooeeey over everybody's shooeey'
Oh, I wish I was a little hunk of mud.

MAY Songs and Fingerplays to enjoy with your little one...

Hello Spring
Tune: Goodnight Ladies
Hello spring,
Hello spring,
Hello spring,
We hope you're here to stay.
replace the word "spring" with other spring words like green grass, robins, rainbow, flowers, butterflies, etc.

Springtime
A small green frog
On a big brown log;
A black and yellow bee
In a little green tree;
A red and yellow snake
By a blue-green lake,
All sat and listened
To red bird sing,
"Wake up, everybody,
It's spring! It's spring!"

Check Out Our May Book Picks...
In this beautifully written story parents imagine what they would continue to do with their children if they could only keep them from growing up, but they also realize all the wonderful things they would miss as their children reached various milestones on their own.

A message of unconditional love through the seasons that is just right for little ones... I love you wild, I love you loud. I shout it out and I feel proud. I love you night, I love you day. In every moment come what may. This is a picture book that will be read again and again, and treasured for years to come.

A day in the life of a parent and child—full of smiles and giggles, messes and meals, boundless energy and well-earned rest. Not to mention lots of love.

As a mother lovingly tucks her child into bed, the imaginative child has...just a few questions... "What if I were an alligator with big, sharp teeth that could bite your head off?" Even if her little boy was an alligator or a super-smelly slug, this mother would love her child unconditionally. As the child continues to test her this devoted mother lovingly reassures him that there is nothing he could do to lose her love.

Some benefits of reading to your children

- Can help with language acquisition and literacy skills.
- Builds listening skills, memory, vocabulary skills, imagination, and promotes longer attention span.
- Gives babies information about the world around them.
- Fosters social and emotional development by hearing you use different emotions and expressive sounds.
- Improves language skills by imitating sounds, recognizing pictures, and learning words.
Family Fun Activities for May

A SPECIAL GIFT FOR A SPECIAL SOMEONE

Here is a fun and easy craft that would make a great homemade gift for mom or grandma for Mother’s Day. Only a few supplies are needed to make this which you may already have laying around your house, or can be easily purchased at the dollar store for a few dollars.

Supplies
- 6"x12" Canvas
- Crayons
- Craft or Silk Flowers

Tools
- Hot Glue Gun (parent use only!)
- Blow dryer

Once you have gathered the supplies needed you will want to cover your work-surface with newspaper since this could easily get a little messy. First, help your child to select the colors they want to use for their picture (you will need around 9 crayons). You can chose to leave the papers on the crayons or take them off. The next step should be done by the adult. Your child can help you by handing you the crayons. Using a hot glue gun, you will glue the crayons along the bottom edge of the canvas with the tips facing up. While the canvas is flat help your child to use a blow dryer to melt the tips of the crayons until the wax pools and all the colors touch. Gently lift the bottom (crayon end) of the canvas and keep it at an angle. Have your child use the blow dryer to melt more of the crayon wax and let it run the length of the canvas until you have a few “stems” for the flowers. Lay the canvas flat until completely dry. When dry, let your child chose the flowers and show you where they want them. Use the hot glue gun to glue the blossoms on the “stems” of the bouquet.

Make a Snack Your Child Will WANT TO EAT!

Children love snacks like these! Who wouldn’t love to get a snack plate like this? These snack ideas are sure to entice your little one into eating a nutritious, healthy snack. The ideas are simple and easy and there is no cooking involved; all you need are a few simple ingredients to create them.

What you need to make the snacks pictured here:
- string cheese
- kiwi, strawberries, apple, crackers

Here’s what you do... first, unwrap your string cheese, place it on the plate. If making the flower snack plate you will cut 2 chunks off the end of the cheese stick for the center of the flowers. For both snack plates you will need to peel the cheese into strips to make stems for the flowers or trunks for the palm trees. Next, you will prepare the fruit, for the flowers. Then clean and cut strawberries and place them around the chunks of cheese to form the flower petals and add your stems (cheese strips). Next, you will peel your kiwi and cut it into slices to form the bed of grass for the flowers and leaves for the stems. If you want to make the tropical palm trees, place your string cheese strips onto a plate and place a layer of crackers on the bottom. Next, thinly slice the apple and kiwi and layer the kiwi on top of the apple slices to form the tops of the palm trees. Now it is time to enjoy eating it!

Cooperation: Turning "No" Into "Yes"

Encouraging children’s sense of fun and imagination often motivates young ones to do chores and routine tasks that aren’t always fun.

Although a game approach isn’t foolproof, more often than not it will minimize conflict and help children to act more independently.

- A toddler can pretend his rolled-up socks are a ball to be “tossed” into the laundry basket.
- Putting on shoes is quite boring for a three-year-old but visiting a pretend shoe store and trying them on for size may be quite appealing.
- A seven-year-old may eagerly pick up his room if encouraged to be a “human vacuum cleaner.” This “cleaning machine” can make all sorts of noises for special effects.

Here are some other games that can be adapted for children of different ages

Getting Dressed
Turn your child into a robot with fast and slow buttons (a nose or an ear). She can choose whether she wants to get dressed quickly or slowly, and you can help by operating the buttons! Try the “Let’s see if you can get dressed by the time I count to twenty” approach. Count slowly enough to ensure success. Hopefully, the next day your child will want to break her record.

Bath Time
Let your child select a few safe kitchen utensils to bring into the tub. A younger child will have fun with a plastic spatula, measuring cups and sieves. An older child can play with whisks, and shaving cream.

Children will have fun kicking up a storm while wearing goggles and swimsuits in the tub. They also love playing with spray bottles. Don’t forget to set up a few rules, and spread a couple of towels on the floor to soak up accidental splashes. Put stickers on the ceiling for a distraction during hair washing. Ask your child what animal they want washing their hair, then use your fingers to scratch like a squirrel or hop like a rabbit on their head.

Cutting Fingernails
Sing “Where is Thumbkin?” Ask for individual fingers by name (pointer, tall man, ring finger, and pinkie). Toes can be “Little Piggies,” and you and your child can recite nursery rhymes while you clip.

Clean Up
Give children scoops or tongs to use to pick up toys off the floor. The challenge of using a tool will make children forget they are actually cleaning!

Put on music and do the clean up dance. The object is to be done by the end of the song or CD. Vary this game by periodically switching the music off, at which point children can “freeze.” When the music resumes, so does the cleaning.

Children are a great excuse to invite fun into daily life, so use your imagination and give game playing a try!
Summer is Coming
It’s Time for Ice Pops!

Make homemade ice pops by pouring fruit juice into an ice tray. When partially frozen, place a craft stick into each pop and freeze until firm.

These special treats are yummy, but they can be messy! Try this idea to do away with sticky fingers, clothing, and floors. Save plastic lids from margarine tubs and cut small slits in the top. Slide the stick into the lid. Now you have a drip pan for drippy treats!

Transitional Objects

Transitional objects have been around for a long time. Think Linus with his blanket in Charles Schulz’s Peanuts cartoon dating from the 50’s.

Children get attached to a particular thing because it acts as a bridge between parents and the outside world. The beloved object may be a stuffed animal or blanket, but parents soon learn that it is precious and substitutes don’t comfort in the same way.

Children and parents who have misplaced or left behind a treasured object will identify with Knuffle Bunny: A Cautionary Tale, by Mo Willems. The book follows Trixie and her dad back to the Laundromat where a beloved bunny was left behind.

Of course, there is a happy ending!

Kiwi: Super Fruit for Super Kids

This fuzzy little fruit is packed with fiber and antioxidants. It also provides vitamins C and E, calcium, iron, and many other vitamins and minerals.

Serve it in slices or cut a kiwi in half and let kids scoop out the tangy fruit for a quick and super healthy snack!

Preventing Tip-Over Accidents

Children are naturally curious about everything! And that can lead to trouble as they climb on bookshelves, chests, and TVs. Of course you will instruct your children not to climb on these items but that is definitely not enough. A child in the U.S. dies every two weeks from a tip-over accident.

When it comes to safety of furniture and appliances, anchoring is key. Always attach furniture to the wall with the proper hardware. Flat-screen TVs must be securely anchored and regular TV’s should only be placed on a TV stand or a media center. Cords and cables should be placed out of sight. Check out the blog: Safetymom.com for more tips on creating a safe home for your family.
WATER WORDS
Ask your child to think of some water words. Here are a few to get you started:
- puddle
- lake
- swim
- waterfall
- rain
- river

SCIENCE WITH WATER
- Collect rainwater in a bucket and observe.
  How can you measure water?
  What color is it?

- What floats in water?
  Try a pencil.
  Try a rock.

Water a plant.
- Where does the water go?
- Will the water help the plant grow?

- Make sounds with water.
  Make a dripping sound.
  Make a splashing sound.

- Blow bubbles with a straw into a cup of water.
  What is inside the bubbles?
  What color are the bubbles?

- Pour water into bottles.
  Use a funnel. Pour from big bottles into little bottles.

- Mix water and dirt together.
  How does it feel?
  What can you build?

PRETEND PLAY WITH WATER
- Make lemonade and set up a lemonade stand.
- Wash doll clothes and hang them on a line.
- Set up a car wash for miniature cars.
- Paint the swing set with water.
- Build castles in the sandbox.

ART WITH WATER
- Spray colored water onto paper.
- Paint with watercolors and brushes on newspapers or paper bags.
- Sprinkle powdered tempera paint on paper and drizzle water on top.

FUN WITH WATER
- Take a bath with a beach ball.
- Squeeze out a sponge.
- Splash in a puddle.
- Walk outside in the rain.
- Wash your bicycle.
- Play in the sprinkler.
- Give the dog a bath.

WATER provides many opportunities for children—from science to pretend play. It’s usually close at hand, inexpensive, and occupies children for hours. What could be better? Remember to always supervise children when they play with water.
